Train trips in Scandinavia

Copenhagen – Stockholm

For big city lovers. This trip takes you to two modern metropolises with proud histories and beautiful buildings. Design, architecture, art and fashion distinguish both cities.

Copenhagen – the design city

Copenhagen is a joyous and convivial city full of alleys lined with cozy old houses. That having been said, Copenhagen is also a modern city permeated by design in all forms and boasting lively cafes and restaurants. Sights worth seeing include the classic amusement park, Tivoli, and the world-famous and popular “The Little Mermaid” statue. And remember to sample the very essence of all things Danish – the Danish open sandwich!

Stockholm – the pride of the Baltic

Stockholm is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Built on fourteen islands, it’s a city of contrasts and often perceived by visitors as being quite unique. It’s an international metropolis, modern and trendy, yet bursting with culture, traditions and a history that stretches back an entire millennium. Few cities can compete with Stockholm’s ability to offer a taste of modern urban life, historical culture and wonderful countryside – all in one and the same day.

How to get there:

• X2000s depart every other hour throughout the day. Night train from Malmö.
• The travel time is around 5.5 hours.
• Stop-off suggestions: Alvastra to see Glashärl, the Kingdom of Crystal, and Närköping to see Kolmården animal park.
